AFRICANDER THE TURF KING.

CREATES A NEW WORLD'S RECORD IN SARATOGA CUP.

a Mile and Three-Quarters With 118 Pounds in 2:58, Beating Heno by a Neck-Waterboy Badly Beaten Highball's Grand Union Hotel Stakes.

SARATOGA, Aug. 22.-A turf king was dethrough, a new monarch crowned and a world's record of 2 minutes 58 seconds estabshed when Africander, Diemel & Dwyer's three-year-old son of Star Ruby and Afric ueen, won the twenty-fifth running of the Saratoga Cup, at one mile and three-quarters, this afternoon, while 20,000 men and women split the welkin with cries which meant "The king is dead! Long live the king!" The victory shouts were for Africander, the requiem cadences for Waterboy, until to-day regarded by many as the king of the American turf and the only horse on this side of the Atlantic worthy to race the great Irish colts Ard Patrick for the championship of the world.

No excuses could be made for Waterboy. and his trainer had none to offer. The track was fast, the weather right and the best jockey, perhaps, in the United States was astride the giant son of Watercress and Zealandia. When the race was over all that Joyner, the trainer of the horse, had to say was: "Waterby fell far short of our expectations. I recken the distance was too long for him.

The attendance at the track was worthy of the event. Grand stand and club stand. club house and paddock, field and field stand were crowded as never before in the history of the Sarotoga track. Wealth and fashion, plungers and pikers, novices and veterans of the turf were there to see the race for the rup, one of the historic events of the American They went to the track, this crowd of women, expecting to see the two greatest horses among the younger thoroughoreds, Africander and Irish Lad, and two or hree or four great ones in the older division. Hermis and Waterboy, meet in the race for In this expectation they were disappointed, for Hermis and Irish Lad, as well Circus, for what reason entered nobody could say, were scratched. This left three to go, Africander, Heno and Waterboy.

In the betting Waterboy was the favorite, opening at 4 to 5 and closing at 6 to 5. Heno as next in demand, opening at 2 to 1 and going Africander was the outsider, opening at 3 to 1 and closing at 16 to 5. The dear public went down on Waterboy, bringing up the dollars from their socks. The educated money was placed on Heno, on the theory was the only proven stayer of the A select few, who were in on the secre of Africander's work, backed the Star Ruby here was no delay at the post. Hardly had the trio reached the barrier when Mr. Fitzgerald pressed the button and they were away on their long journey. Heno had the inside rail and there Burns kept him from Young was the first in motion, and started at a flerce clip, closely attended by Waterboy, with Africander half a length away in this order they raced for three-quarters of a mile.

Heno making his own pace and running easily, with the beautiful head of Waterboy nodding at Heno's saddle. As they passed the stand the first time, Waterboy was moving so easily in that majestic stride of his hat an admirer of the black colt shouted: "Oh, my! Waterboy; you're only breezing." At the turn opposite the club stand, Fuller made his first call on Africander and the Star Ruby colt seemed to skim over the track until he reached the saddle girths of Water-boy. There Fuller held him to await de-

Just after one mile had been covered, Heno, who had been thundering along in ront as his own pacemaker let out a little the speed he had in reserve, and for the time there was daylight between him Waterboy. Instantly Odom called on first place in the race. as they reached the far turn, Burns let out nother link, and quick as a lightning flash eno shot away a length in front of Waterboy. Odom shook up the Haggin horse, but he med to hang in his stride. Then it was that Odom realized that Waterboy was in the race of his life. The boy drew his whip and for a nundred yards or so plied it vigorously.

But it was not in the son of Watercress to respond to the call. At last he had met his master, and the flying Heno it seemed would come home alone. But there was another been taken. As soon as Odom went to the whip Fuller chirped to Africander, and away he flew past Waterboy and joined issue with younger turned into the stretch, Heno still on the rail. As the pair straightened out for home, Fuller sat down on Africander and Burns followed suit on Heno. Down through the stretch past the cheering thousands in field and stands, the pair raced, head and head and stride for stride, in as beautiful a Fifty yards from home the pace told just the least bit on Heno, and Africander pushed first a nose, then a head, and finally part of a neck in front of his rival, and so passe under the wire, having run the mile and two-fifths of a second than ever the dis tance was run before and beating the Saratoga track record, made by the five-year-old mare, Glidelia, with 116 pounds up, by three seconds. The best previous record for the distance was made by the six-year-old Latson, at Morris Park, on Oct. 19, 1901. Latson carried only 95 pounds, while to-day African-

The $10,000 Grand Union Hotel Stakes, for two-year-olds at six furlongs drew a big field to the post, including many of the best youngsters shown so far this year. Foxhall Keene's Paimbeaerer, J. E. Madden's The Minute Man and August Belmont's Gallant were equal favorites at 4 to 1, with W. C. Whitney's Stalwart and Reliance coupled second choice at sixes. The race was an object, as F. R. Thomas's Dimple, 12 to 1, after a fair start in which all of the talent's selection except Palmbearer got away slowly, quickly went to the front, with Crown Prince and the Keene gelding at her heels. At the half-mile The Minute Man moved up with great courage, passing Palmbearer and going after Dimple with so much speed that Odom put her under the whip at the five furlong pole. Meanwhile Fuller had been at work with W. M. Sheftel's Highball, 12 to 1, and coming into the stretch the Ben Strome colt displayd a remarkable turn of speed. It was a fierce drive to the wire, in which Highball was victorious by a length and a half over Dimple, who beat Green B. Morris's Rapid Water, a 60 to 1 shot, by a half a length. Palmbearer was a head back, with The Minute Man, Gallant and Stalwart not far away. The time was 1:14 1-5.

W. C. Whitney's colors were seen in front in the first race, a handicap for all ages, at seven furlongs. His Watercress three-year-old, Reliable, second choice, took the lead from Illyria at the half-mile pole and held it to the end, defeating Hurstbourne, the 8 to 5 favorite, by a half a length in a driving finish. The time was 1:25 3-5.

In the Shillelah Steeplechase J. E. Widener started three jumpers, Fulminate, Caller and Valdez, who ruled favorites at 2 to 1, 4 W. Colt's Lavator and Arian were coupled at 5 to 2, while 18 to 5 was readily accepted and Valdez, who ruled favorites at 2 to 1.

J. W. Colt's Lavator and Arian were coupled at 5 to 2 while 13 to 5 was readily accepted against Mr. Chamblet's Land of Clover. It was one of the best races of its kind seen this season. Caller and Arian were the pacemakers for a mile and three-quarters, when the others closed up. Valdez fell and Caller stumbled. Then Lavator went to the front only to have Land of Clover hook up with him for a long, sensational drive through the stretch. Mara outrode Veltch with the result that Lavator won by a short head, with Land of Clover ten lengths before Arian. The time was 5.04.

Sedney Paget's undefeated filly Hamburg Bele did good work for the Futurity by winning the fifth race for two-year-olds at five and a half furiongs. She was favorite at 13 to 10, with W. C. Whitney's Mercury second in favor at 16 to 5. Hamburg Belle won in impressive style by a length and a half fullus Fleischmann's Long Shot, 20 to 1, was driven into the place, a length and a half before O. L. Richards Race King, 6 to 1. In the last races, for platers, at a mile and a sixteenth on the turf, W. S. Fanshawe's Black Hussar, 3 to 1, made a runaway of it, winning in a gallop by four lengths fromPost, 4 to 1, who was three parts of a length before Satire, second choice. The time was 1:49 3-5. Willing to Meet the Champion-Offers

$1,000 to Bollermaker to Fight Him. Jack Munroe has taken up the gauntlet thrown down to him by Jim Jeffries. The Anaconda miner announces that nothing will suit him better than to meet the champion and declares that if such a mill is not arranged, it will not be because he is at fault On Friday Jeffries announced from San Francisco that he would give Munroe $10,000 if the latter stays four rounds with him. Munroe is not only willing to do this, but is prepared to go the boilermaker one better if Jeffries will sign articles, by agreeing to pay to the Callfornian a $1,000 bonus for doing so.

Munroe, who is in town, said yesterday: 'If what Jeffries says is true, it is welcome ne ws to me. I am going to post $5,000 as forfeit some time during next week just to show how earnest I am about making a match Jeffries or any other man in the world cannot knock me out in four rounds. I don't believe that Jeffries made such a crack that he would give me $10,000 if I stay four rounds with him Why such an offer is absurd. He failed to defeat me last winter in that numwith him Why such an oner is absurd. He failed to defeat me last winter in that aumber of rounds when I was a mere novice. Now I know more about the game, and it is easy betting that I will be up and doing at the fluish if we ever meet again. I am prepared to talk business with Jeffries at any time or place he may suggest. I will give him $1,000 in cold cash if he will sign articles and bet him $5,000 on the side that I will win.

"Jeffries says he was in no shape when he fought me I think he errs, and I have learned on good authority that he was doing plenty of work in a gymnasium weeks before our scrap took place. I don't want to detract anything from him as a fighter. He is certainly great and all that, but he should not rob me of any credit due. I am in the same profession he is and if he wants to do any mud silnging, he can do it. But I'll send some myself, just to show that I am no dead one. The latest story from San Francisco is that Jim Corbett and Jeffries intend to Join hands and appear on the road in a sparring bout. Corbett, it is said, has made overtures to Jeffries has accepted.

and determined than the New Yorks. The latter were wanting in confidence and could not knock the ball to the ground often enough to be dangerous.

Slagle slugged a two-bagger to left centre in the first inning and Chance sent one, in the same direction, but much further. Chance rounded the first mark with all sails set, come about at the second buoy with no diminution in speed, gibed at the third mark, and with sheets trimmed flat began the last leg, a dead beat. One short tack brought him up into the eye of the wind and to the home mark before Mertes got the ball in from far off left field.

Bresnahan misjudged Kling's lick so badly in the third inning that it was good for three bases and sent in two runs. The Chicagos failed to hit safely in only one inning. It was no trick at all for them to boost a little one over the infield at any time. Errors by Weimer, Kling and Williams and the batting of Bresnahan and Meisann gave the New Yorks their runs. Slagle made a marvellous catch in the eighth inning. He ran like a deer out nearly to the rope for Mertes's flerce drive, threw his hands overhead and got hold of the ball, juggled it, grabbed it again, then pitched over sideways on his head, still clutching the precious pellet.

The Reds and Brooklyns collided twice yesterday, with honors even. In the first game Schmidt was in tiptop form, and the scattering hits that he allowed the Cincinnatis kept them in the background pretty effectually. The second inning was especially profitable for the Hanlonites, and somewhat unusual in that the first two men up struck out and Jacklitsch then started a batting raily that did not die out until four hits had been made. Outfield errors were mingled with the hits and the hits and errors combined netted three runs. The Reds braced later, but could not do enough with Schmidt to catch up. NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

KRAMER AND LAWSON NOW TIED FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Remarkable Exhibition of Rivairy at Manhattan Beach-Each Beats the Other Once-Hurley Takes Two-Point Events -Five Fall, but No One is injured.

An amazing exhibition of the bitter personal rivalry existing between them was given at Manhattan Beach track yesterday by Frank L. Kramer, the two-time champion, and Iver Lawson, the Swede, who has been pressing him so closely for the title this year. In the final of the two-third of a mile chamcionship race they deliberately threw away the fat purse by refusing to go after the two leaders, preferring to trail behind and fight a duel with one another. Only four started in the final, and it was announced that Kramer would team with John Bedell and Lawson with George Collett.

At the pistol crack Kramer and Lawson began Jockeying with each other and their team mates got twenty or thirty yards ahead of them. Then Bedell saw his chance and suddenly took a notion to make a runaway of it and shot away. Collett went after him and caught him, but Kramer and Lawson continued fiddling for position along the outer edge of the track. The result was that the heat resolved itself into two match races Bedell beat Collett out a length and they finished nearly half a lap ahead of the other two. Lawson got the better of the jockey-ing and trailed Kramer. This time the champion did not remain up on the bank in the turn and let Lawson jump him, as he did last week, but dropped down to the pole. He started the sprint and Lawson could not get past him on the outside. Kramer won by

Before the race Lawson led in the championship contest, having 31 points against Kramer's 29. It was a double point contest, 10 points for first, 6 for second, 4 for third and 2 for fourth. The result of the race, therefore, left Kramer and Lawson tied at 33 points a piece.

In the ten-mile professional handicap. Lawson turned the tables on Kramer in grand finish they came out of the turn with Kramer lengths behind him. Kramer went up on the outside and Lawson developed a mar-lengths behind him. Kramer went up on the outside and Lawson developed a marvellous burst of speed in pursuit. Lawson's momentum when he turned into the stretch was such that he gained all the way to the finish, closing the gap and beating Kramer by about two feet.

Hurley took both the half-mile and five-mile amateur championships quite handily, but in the mile handicap he was cut off by a spill that occurred in front of him at the head of the stretch, in which five fell, but no one was seriously injured.

The sport was first class throughout and the crowd was appréciative.

YOUNG LARNED A SURPRISE. Champion's Brother Defeats Huntington in National Lawn Tennis Tournament.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 22 .- Only four players remain in the struggle for the national aspirants for Champion Larned's title and faulted this morning to his brother, which rest before the final series of matches next week. Young E. P. Larned surprised all but a few of the wisest of the followers of the game by beating the veteran Huntington who was one of the crack players of the country long before his conqueror ever lifted a tenis racket. Clothier also earned brackets once more by beating Allen, the other Philadei-phia expert, with surprising case.

There were only two matches to-day in the championship event, and during the afternoon the consolation singles were reduced to the semi-final stage. Referee Dwight was not in attendance to-day, and in his absence Ryerson, who was substituted for him, put Clothier and Allen on the championship court.

This match proved to be very one-sided, and it took less than an hour for Clothier to put a quietus on his fellow townsman In the meantime, Huntington and F. P. Larned were busy on the adjoining court each having won a set when the other match was completed. They were shifted over in front of the grandstand and finished their match before the crowd.

In the first set of the Clothier-Allen match. the latter made a fairly good showing, but after that he never seemed to be in it. Clothier came in on every service and he volleyed so well that Allen found it almost impossible to pass him. He tried lobbing, but Clothier came in on every service and he volleyed so well that Allen found it almost impossible to pass him. He tried lobbing, but Clothier smashed very effectively, and there seemed to be no point at which Allen could outplay his adversary. On the other hand, Clothier passed very well both on the return of Allen's service, and in the general play. Allen held the lead at 3—2, in the first set, but failed to get another game. In the second he won only the fourth game, while in the last set Allen won only the first and sixth games, and not one of the whole set ran up to deuce. Only four games in the match of twenty-four reached deuce, and the match was one of the shortest ever played on the championship court.

Young Larned gave the crowd the first glimpse of his clever play in the third set, and it was a revelation to most of the spectators. He is an almost exact duplicate of his champion brother in appearance, manner and style of play, and his skill has increased wonderfully during the last year or two. He runs into volley on every service, first and second, and yet he can play well off the ground when occasion demands. He hits clean and fast all the time, too, and is cool and accurate in passing. Huntington seldom or never ran into volley, confining his play chiefly to the base line. He used a good deal of under wis too, in his strokes, and this makes them easier to volley than others, so Larned found it rather easy to kill at the net.

The younger player was simply invincible in the first set and he volleyed so fast and passed so well that Huntington failed to get a single game. Only one of the six went to deuce, and Huntington made the remarkable record of winning just nine points in the whole set. The veteran made a better showing in the second and led at 3—1. Larned then ran off three games and took the lead at 4—3, only to lose the next three in quick succession, chiefly on his own errors, which gave Huntington the set by 6—4.

When the match was resumed on the championship court Larned again started out with a ru set at 8-3, and with it the match, three sets to one

HORSE AND CARRIAGE TRADE. Tuesday and Friday are bargain days at Van Tassell& Kearney's Horse Auction Mart. While this firm always secures the highest average market value for everything con-signed to them there will always be a bargain or two for a wideawake buyer.

It may not be known to every reader that Van Tassell & Kearney are among the largest dealers in fine carriages in this country. It grade vehicles than can be shown anywhere else under one roof. Half a dezen high-grade builders of different style carriages make and ends at his carriage showrooms in Wooster street, but he has a few shop-sorted and good second-hand vehicles that he wants to close out at bargain prices. Some need only a coat of paint and varnish to look equal to new, and others show the marks of wear. All are in perfect order and for service are practically new. The prices in many cases have been cut in half, vehicle in the showrooms has been marked at a reduction just to keep business moving in what people call the dull season. There is no dull season with Gray.

The buyer will find in the harness and horse goods department of R. H. Macy & Co. one of the most complete stocks shown in the city. This is the season when nature is in smiling mood and tempts one to the full measure of outdoor life This makes the demands for outdoor life. This makes the demands for the riding and driving outfit more frequent. The harness department of Macy & Co. is on a par with that of general horse and stable furnishing goods. Everything that a prudent buyer can ask for is shown here, from the best that can be made at any price down to the good, serviceable grade at a modest figure. Nothing that smacks of the cheap is sold. It is little less than a crime to sell an interior harness, endangering the safety of those who drive. Macy & Co. often sacrifice prices, but never quality.

The I. S. Remson Company, at the carriage The I. S. Remson Company, at the carriage emporium in Grand street, Brooklyn, is showing one of the most complete lines of high-class vehicles in the city. Not half a dozen different styles and qualities, but half a dozen hundred. Everything that good taste can suggest and good judgment prompt one to purchase is to be found here. The harness and horse goods department is stocked in the same thorough manner. When it comes to prices the Remson Company invites comparison. With moderate expenses, the house is able to sell at a very close margin of profit.

The warm days of midsummer are often the busiest of the year at Edward Callanan's sons. It is at this time that the floors are cleared of every vehicle that a moderate concession in price will move, and this policy keeps the stock bright and clean so that buyers never get a shopworn carriage.

At this time, too, the repair department is in full swing, and this has become a very important and growing branch. Many old patrons send carriages to be put in thorough order during the summer sojourn of the family in the country.

family in the country.

The reader with an economical turn of mind who rides or drives will be interested in knowing more of the Peters Harness and Saddlery Company. The line of goods in their various departments is very complete and all of good quality. Nothing is sacrificed to price, and yet the prices are very moderate. The expenses are small as compared with those of many New York houses, and a small margin of profit is all that is wanted. Everything sold is of the dependable quality.

In business wagons and trucks for heavy transportation the Bedford Wagon Works on Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, stand unexcelled as makers. This brand of manufacture has long been a specialty and like any other line to which all energies are concentrated a high average of quality has been the result. To help along those who are trying to help themselves a small weekly payment is accepted without additional charge in first cost. This to many may be very advantageous.
